INTRODUCTION

In 1985, the Research and Legal Literature Committee of the Canadian Law Information Council undertook to produce an inventory of secondary legal literature in Canada. The Inventory was conceived as a means of identifying the legal subject areas lacking accessible and useful Canadian Civil and Common law texts in both official languages.

This ambitious project required hours of dedicated work by the members of the CLIC Research and Legal Literature Committee. Committee members included Simon Chester, McMillan Binch, Toronto; Balfour Halévy, Law Library, York University; Mary Helleiner, Law Foundation of Nova Scotia; Ejan Mackaay, Faculty of Law, University of Montreal; and Guy Tanguay, Law Library, University of Sherbrooke.

Former CLIC staff also devoted considerable time to different stages of this project, including Michelle Brûlé, Martin Felsky, Peggy Brûlé, Lorna Rees-Potter, Claudette Racette and Stéphane Doucet. Anne-Marie Mayotte translated portions of the text.

Coverage of Legal Materials

The Inventory contains monographs covering both substantive law and historical aspects of the law as well as finding tools such as case and statute citators, bibliographies, dictionaries, lexicons and encyclopedias. Continuing legal education and law society publications also are included in the scope of the Inventory's coverage.

Government documents, law reform commission publications (except treatises), public legal education and audio-visual materials, pamphlets of less than 25 pages in length, law reports and digests and theses on legal topics were excluded from the Inventory's coverage. Bar admission course materials were not included, except in cases where they were the only available research source on a particular subject area.

The Research and Legal Literature Committee decided that the collection of data for the Inventory would begin with materials published from 1970 onwards. This date was selected to avoid the inclusion of outdated materials. The Committee also agreed to exclude materials produced after 1986. The rationale for the selection of this date was the emergence of the expanded Carswell Legal Publication, Index to Canadian Legal Literature, and its comprehensive indexing of materials such as continuing legal education and law society publications.

Balfour Halévy and Guy Tanguay compiled and classified all of the Inventory entries from the collections of their respective law libraries, York University Law Library and the University of Sherbrooke Law Library. Balfour Halévy was responsible for the collection of French and English Common Law materials while Guy Tanguay took responsibility for collecting Civil Law materials in both official languages.

Classification Scheme For Entries

The Committee developed a classification scheme for the Inventory, modelled on a former scheme developed by the CLIC Research and Legal Literature Committee. This earlier scheme, the "Gaps Listing", had served as a guide to identifying subject areas lacking in useful Canadian materials. Based on this listing, CLIC funded the publication of texts in these areas.

While the subject headings in the classification scheme appear in both English and French, sometimes the headings may appear in only one language. This occurs as some subject areas in Civil Law do not exist in Common Law and vice versa. For example, "Real Property" in Common Law does not have an exact equivalent in Civil Law. Likewise, an equivalent does not exist for "Mandat" in Civil Law.

When the contents of a publication deal with more than one subject, the publication is classified under the major subject heading only.

In the subject classification scheme, See references are employed to direct users to the more appropriate subject heading.

Each entry appears in the language of publication. Each entry consists of the publication's author, title, place and date of publication, number of pages, and the International Standard Book Number (ISBN) when available.

INTRODUCTION

En 1985, le Comité de la recherche et de la doctrine juridiques du Conseil canadien de la documentation juridique a entrepris la rédaction d'un répertoire des ouvrages de doctrine juridique au Canada. Le Répertoire devait permettre d'identifier les domaines du droit civil et de la common law qui n'offraient pas de documentation utile et accessible dans les deux langues officielles.

Cet ambitieux projet a pris son envol grâce au dévouement des membres du Comité : Me Simon Chester, McMillan Binch (Toronto); M. Balfour Halévy, bibliothèque de droit, Université York; Me Mary Helleiner, Law Foundation of Nova Scotia; Me Ejan Mackaay, Faculté de droit, Université de Montréal; et Me Guy Tanguay, bibliothèque de droit, Université de Sherbrooke.

Les anciens employés du CCDJ ont aussi fait une importante contribution à divers volets du projet. Parmi eux, notons Mme Michelle Brûlé, Me Martin Felsky, Peggy Brûlé, Mme Lorna Rees-Potter, Mme Claudette Racette et M. Stéphane Doucet. Mme Anne-Marie Mayotte a traduit certaines tranches du document.

Portée du Répertoire

Le Répertoire inclut des monographies traitant de droit positif et d'aspects historiques du droit, ainsi que des outils de recherche dont les index d'arrêts et de lois citées, les bibliographies, les dictionnaires, les lexiques et les encyclopédies. Le matériel d'éducation juridique permanente et les publications des corporations professionnelles de juristes sont aussi inclus.

Le Répertoire ne comprend pas les documents gouvernementaux, les publications des commissions de réforme du droit (exception faite des traités), le matériel audiovisuel et de vulgarisation de l'éducation juridique, les brochures de moins de 25 pages, les recueils de jurisprudence, les condensés et les thèses, sauf si ces documents sont les seuls qui existent dans un domaine donné.

Le Comité de la recherche et de la doctrine juridiques a décidé de n'inclure que les documents publiés depuis 1970 et avant 1987. Il s'agissait, d'une part, d'éviter l'inclusion de matériel désuet et, d'autre part, d'éviter de reproduire le travail accompli par la Carswell Legal Publication dans son Index à la documentation juridique au Canada amélioré, qui répertorie les documents d'éducation juridique permanente, publications des corporations professionnelles de juristes et autres documents.

M. Halévy et Me Tanguay ont recueilli et classé toutes les fiches du Répertoire, qu'ils ont tirées des collections de leurs bibliothèques respectives, soit celle de l'Université York et celle de l'Université de Sherbrooke. M. Halévy était chargé des ouvrages de common law dans les deux langues officielles et Me Tanguay, des ouvrages de droit civil en français et en anglais.

Catégories d'inventaire

Le Comité a mis au point un système de classification des fiches fondé sur les catégories d'inventaire établies par le Comité de la recherche et de la doctrine juridiques. Ces anciennes catégories, la « liste des domaines lacunaires », avait servi de guide pour l'identification des domaines ne possédant pas de documentation canadienne utile. Le CCDJ subventionnait la publication d'ouvrages en fonction de cette liste.

Certaines catégories d'inventaire n'apparaissent que dans une des deux langues officielles. Il s'agit des catégories qui n'ont pas d'équivalent précis d'un système de droit à l'autre. Par exemple, le concept de « real property » de la common law n'existe pas comme tel dans le droit civil, tandis que le concept de « mandat » est le propre du droit civil.

Lorsqu'une publication traite de plus d'un sujet, elle est classée selon le sujet principal.

Les notes précédées du mot « See » renvoient le lecteur à la catégorie pertinente.

Chaque fiche est inscrite selon la langue de publication du document. Chacune comprend le nom de l'auteur, le titre, le lieu et la date de publication, le nombre de pages et le numéro ISBN, s'il y a lieu.
